John Wick: Chapter 3 - Parabellum (2019)

★ 8/10

Great movie (depending on the type of person you are in terms of love for action!)

Review:

I just love John Wick franchise overall and this one was also not a surprise in amazing me. It's a movie which I think changes the definition of action we usually are used to watching. The story line of this movie isn't very strong one, in my opinion - not going to lie on that - but overall, I liked it and don't regret watching it, thinking I wasted 2 hours of my life. In fact, it actually kept me entertained as it continued and also kept me curious enough to watch through the whole time without even me wondering for once that, what am I watching!

I would also like to add that although the situations portrayed to us are very ideal and maybe none of those would work at all or only 20-30% would be possible in real life scenarios, but still, cannot ignore that it's a great watch and hey, we should also not forget the fact that that's what movies are for ultimately, entertainment, aren't they? Alongside, I believe it also might be worth mentioning about the classic dark theme of this movie's franchise, which is continued from previous parts and was just as appealing as it gets - along with the intro music they had (helps in setting the tone to watch it), when it begins.

Spoiler:

While watching the movie, I liked his survival skills - I am not talking only in the sense of action that happened in it, but he also seems to be having good backups (extra coins, contacts, etc.) everywhere which he uses and survives - and also the way he is able to save himself is just amazing to me. He seems to be able to withstand anything and everything that is thrown at him and beats all the odds of surviving and comes out standing every time. Action in this movie is a lot, and I literally mean, a lot! It has one good thing (I believe) though - it doesn't have an extremely gruesome way of killings in it that some action movies these days have; it doesn't make audience uncomfortable while watching.

In conclusion, I'd say it's an overall good movie to watch and you will not get bored, of course with a condition of depending on the type of person you are in terms of love for action. Solid 8/10 from me.
